

ATHLETE DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

Preparing students in pursuit of their athletic goals

St Stephen's School
SERVE GOD SERVE ONE ANOTHER

WHAT IS THE ADP?

The Athlete Development Program (ADP) is a specialised program delivered in partnership between St Stephen's School and Athletic Institute (AI). The ADP is open to selected students in Year 7 and 8 at the Carramar campus, and Duncraig Campus, acting as a precursor to the School's Elite Athlete Program in the senior years.

AI are leaders in youth strength and conditioning, passionately mentoring the next generation of sporting stars. Their vision 'to educate, empower and inspire future generations of athletes as they persevere in their pursuit of athletic success on a global scale', aligns with St Stephen's School's desire to encourage and enable students to reach their potential. Their values of respect, integrity, grit, humility, trust and teamwork also underpin the qualities we strive to instil in our graduates.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

The ADP sees our sports specialists working together to deliver a curriculum, written by Athletic Institute, that is fun, challenging and results-driven. There are opportunities for students to work with degree-qualified youth coaches and industry leaders, with access to the same training opportunities as state athletes and sporting teams.

The holistic program promotes a mature approach to sport and development, using evidence-based research protocols and techniques and thorough screening and testing, setting students up with good foundations for long-term health, fitness and performance.

The program is delivered on campus and at Athletic Institutes purpose-built facility in Wangara.

Students will learn valuable theory including effective goal setting techniques, nutritional habits along with the importance of rest and recovery in their training regime.

From a practical perspective students will engage in performance testing and screening, resistance training, altitude training in a normobaric chamber, mobility and flexibility classes as well as active recovery sessions in saunas and ice baths.

The goal of the ADP is to support each student's athletic development, equipping them with the skills, discipline and mindset needed to pursue their potential as future professional athletes.
